NOON REPORTS.

Garfield's Acceptance.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Near midnight the committee appointed by Mr. Hoar to wait on Generals Garfield and Arthur to notify them of their nominations, found them in the club room of the Grand Pacific Hotel. Mr. Hoar, as chairman, made an appropriate speech. Mr. Garfield replied: Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I assure you that the information you have officially given me brings a sense of very grave responsibility, and especially so in view of the fact that I was a member of your body, a fact that could not have existed with propriety had I had the slightest expectation that my name would be connected with the nomination for the office. I have felt with you great solicitude concerning the situation of our party during this struggle, but believing you are correct in assuring me that substantial unity had been reached in the conclusion, it gives me gratification far greater than any personal pleasure your announcement can bring. I accept the trust committed to my hands. As to the work of our party and as to the character of the campaign to be entered upon I will take early occasion to reply more fully than I can properly do to-night. I thank you for the assurance of confidence and esteem you have presented to me, and hope we shall see our future as promising as are the indications to-night.

Mr. Hoar in the same manner presented the nomination to Gen. Arthur, who accepted it in a brief and informal way.

Expressions on the Ticket.

ATLANTA, GA., June 9.—The Constitution thinks the machine will not work satisfactorily in New York, and that the ticket can be beaten.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 9.—The nomination of Garfield was received with satisfaction by the Republicans. The general expression is that he will harmonize all elements of the party, and poll a full Republican vote.

KEY WEST, Fla., June 9.—The Republicans turned out in a torch light procession and had a mass meeting last night to ratify the nominations of Garfield and Arthur.

Another Target Practice.

NEW YORK, June 9.—A Camden, S. C., special says that during the past month there have been five duels in this county. Some of the most prominent citizens have been engaged in them. Capt. W. D. Pass, one of the leading lawyers of Camden, and Col. Cash, one of the largest planters in the county are now on their way to the dueling field. Efforts are making to have them arrested to prevent the hostile meeting.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—SENATE.—Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, from the Committee on appropriations, reported back to the House the concurrent resolution providing for adjournment on June 10th, at 12 o'clock, with an amendment substituting June 16th, at 12 o'clock, for the former date. The amendment was agreed to and the resolution as amended was unanimously concurred in.

Democratic Conventions.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Democratic Convention of Cook county yesterday nominated 99 Delegates to the State Convention, and adopted a resolution instructing them to vote for Seymour.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 9.—The Democratic Convention yesterday declared in favor of the two-thirds rule.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 9—SENATE.—Senator Davis, of West Virginia, from the Appropriations Committee, reported back House concurrent resolution for the adjournment of Congress on the 10th June, with an amendment substituting June 15th for the previous date. The amendment was agreed to and the resolution concurred in.

The conference report on the Postoffice Appropriation bill w s taken up and also concurred in. The Senate then proceeded to consider the bill to repeal certain laws relating to permanent and indefinite appropriations.

Mr. Jones, of Florida, offered amendments excepting the appropriation heretofore made to carry into effect the last clause of the 9th article of the Spanish-American treaty of February 22d, 1819. Mr. Jones spoke upon his amendment, giving the history of the Eastern Florida claims and showing that they have not been fully paid according to the judgments and laws passed.

Mr. Call also advocated the amendment. It was, however, rejected, and the bill was then passed. The bill removing the disabilities of Clement C. Clay, of Alabama, was passed.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Upon motion of Mr. Morgan the appropriation to enable the Entomological Commissioners to complete the investigation of the habits of the cotton worm was increased from $15,000 to $25,000, and the scope of investigation enlarged to include all insects injurious to the cotton plant.

After some discussion of the amendments making appropriations to finish several of the partially completed Monitors, the Senate, without finishing the consideration of the bill, adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House finally disposed of the Legislative and Executive, and River and Harbor appropriation bills, agreed to the Senate's adjournment amendment, and adjourned.

Indiana Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9.—The Democratic State Convention met this morning. The hall, with a seating capacity of 3,000, was fully occupied. The convention was called to order by the Chairman of the Central Committee; Hon. F. Hurd, of Bartholomew, was chosen temporary chairman. The usual committees were appointed and ex-Governor Thomas A. Hendricks was chosen permanent chairman. Resol tions were adopted to instruct the delegates to present the n me of Mr. Hendricks to the Cincinnati Convention as a nominee for President, and to vote as a unit on all questions before the convention. After the call of districts for the names of delegates to the Cincinnati Convention, the convention proceeded to the nomination of a State ticket. Franklin Landers, Isaac P. Gray and Alex. C. Downey were put in nomination for Governor.

Greenback Convention.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The National Greenback Labor Convention was called to order at 12:30, and organized by electing Gilbert DeLaMatyr as temporary chairman. About 650 delegates present, representing all the States of the Union.

Maryland Democrats.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—The Conservative Convention assembled in this city to-day and elected delegates to the Cincinnati Convention. The proceedings were characterized by a perfect harmony. The resolutions which were unanimously adopted decline to instruct the delegates, but express confidence in the distinguished ability of Thos. F. Bayard, of Delaware.

Grant Satisfied.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The Times this morn prints the following: "Galena, Ill., June 8.—Gen. Grant was at Gen. Rawlins's office as usual this afternoon receiving dispatches. When the news of Gen. Garfield's nomination was received he said it was all right, he was satisfied, and soon after left for home."

Arrest of a Bank President.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 9th.—Berry Russell, ex-President of the Bank of Lafayette, was arrested to-day on new information, charging him with embezzlement in connection with his administration as bank officer.

TO PHOSPHATE DEALERS.

A MANUFACTURER of Phosphate in Baltimore, whose factory is capable of producing 4,000 tons of Ammoniated Phosphate, having but limited capital, would like to enter into arrangements with some party at the South to manufacture for them for the coming season. A manufacturer's profit would be required only, and any grade of Phosphate made required, and at a large saving to the dealer. The subscriber's own brand of fertilizer has a high character and reputation. Want of capital is the only barrier to success. Address H. L. BRACK, 72 Exchange Place, cor. South, Baltimore. RALEIGH, N. C.

THURSDAY.....JUNE 10, 1880.

VALUE OF HOME PAPERS.

It is very much the fashion to sneer at the country press, meaning thereby the county papers. It is a very senseless fashion. A well-conducted county paper is a public blessing, and if we cannot truthfully say that all the country papes in North Carolina are well conducted, it may be said with entire accuracy that they are far above the average of the papers North and West, outside the great cities. What we say we know. In the way of business, while we were absent from North Carolina, it became necessary for us to see and to know pretty well some two or three thousand of the country papers printed in the Northern and Western States, and in no State of them all did they compare favorably with our North Carolina papers, either in mechanical or news work. But this by the way. The comparative merits of the country press in the several sections is of little moment. The value of the papers printed in this State, as compared with that of the cheap weeklies issued from the great Northern cities, is of importance, for as one newspaper to a family is more than the average, it is unfortunate that there are more Northern than home papers circulated in North Carolina.

A very sensible article is going the rounds of the country press just now relative to the comparative value of the city and country newspapers. It recites a conversation between a citizen and the publisher of his county journal. The citizen notifies the publisher that he has concluded to stop his subscription to the county paper, as he can get "a larger and cheaper paper" from New York. This is all readily admitted by the rural editor, but after examining the New York sheet he asks: "Did you ever see anything in it concerning our county?" The citizen is compelled to answer that he never has, or in regard to the State either, but doggedly insists that "it contains more reading matter for less money." In answer he is reminded that although the foreign sheet may publish double the amount of reading matter it has nothing relative to local affairs—the schools, the churches, village and county improvements, and, in short, the daily occurrences that happen in the neighborhood. It is as foreign to the reader as the city wherein it is published. As a last effort the dissatisfied subscriber reminds the publisher that wages are much cheaper in the village than in the city, and therefore he cannot understand why a paper should not be published as cheap or cheaper in the former as in the latter place. To this the following reply is made: "For the reason that a country paper has a smaller circulation compared with a city paper, and the labor expended upon 1000 papers is about the same as upon 50,000, especially when it is taken into consideration that the city weekly, which is furnished at $1 a year, is made up of type set for the daily." This is all very true, and has led in recent years to the extensive adoption of what is known as the "patent outside," or "auxiliary sheet" system—a system which we are pleased to observe is being abandoned in many parts of the country. These patent sheets are intended to meet the requirements of such subscribers as the one above referred to, who want "a large amount of reading matter" without regard to its quality. Such persons are unable to understand why Mr. BENNETT can publish the New York Herald, with from eight to sixteen pages, for four cents a copy, when his little four-page country sheet costs as much for each issue. And yet if his country paper is properly edited, one copy of it will contain a dozen items of real interest to him where the mammoth New York journal contains one. The great mistake on the part of the conductors of country newspapers is that in their endeavors to satisfy this unreasonable demand they neglect those important and indispensable features of the rural journal—chronicles of home events and practical suggestions and experiences for everyday life. When the citizen gets up in the morning, it is natural that he should seek to inform himself of the condition of affairs in his own household before inquiring what has been going on in the houses of his neighbors; so he should by subscribing for his county paper, first acquaint himself with home politics and events before undertaking the solution of foreign problems of statesmanship and policy.

We show our faith by our works. The first and most carefully read papers that reach us are our State exchanges, and so highly do we estimate their local news that we think we get full value in the fifty-two issues sent us by our North Carolina brethren in exchange for rather more than three hundred issues of THE NEWS and the postage thereon. So too, while we try to keep our readers informed of the news of the outside world, what goes on in North Carolina, as gathered from exchanges, learned from correspondence, or ascertained by paid reporters, has been and will be the staple of any paper that we control.

THE Rhode Island Legislature on Tuesday re-elected Gen. A. E. BURNSIDE to be United State Senate.

THE STATE CANVASS.

Democratic Conventions in thirty-one counties have sent delegates to the State Convention instructed for one or the other of the two candidates for the Gubernatorial nomination. Of these, twenty-six counties instruct for Governor JARVIS and five for Judge FOWLE. The twenty-six are entitled to 298 votes; the five to 94 votes.

The following are the counties which have instructed for JARVIS:—

Anson,	16
Bertie,	11
Camden,	7
Chowan,	6
Currituck,	8
Cumberland,	22
Cabarrus,	16
Cherokee,	7
Clay,	3

Mecklenburg,	34
Pasquotank;	8
Perquimans,	8
Pitt,	21
Rowan,	22
Swain,	4
Tyrrell,	5
Transylvania,	4
	298

The five counties which instruct for Judge FOWLE are:—

Beaufort,	17
Brunswick,	10
Caldwell,	12
Martin,	13
Wake,	42
	94

The annexed estimate of instructed and uninstructed county votes is handed to us by a gentleman as thoroughly acquainted as one may be with the details of the canvass. It very nearly agrees with the estimate made in these columns some weeks ago.

EDITOR NEWS:—I have been as attentive to State political events as most people this Spring, and have had access to as reliable sources of information as most people, and have had much personal observation, and herewith present you a table which in my honest judgment shows the Jarvis and Fowle strength at our coming State Convention. I believe that the first ballot will give a larger majority for the model Governor than my figures indicate, and his friends everywhere may rejoice in the conviction that his triumphant nomination on the 17th inst. is assured. I give the votes of counties by districts:—

PLATFORMS.

The Chicago Platform, the Republican New York Evening Post says, is one of memories rather than of hopes. These are very good in their way, and there is no reason why parties as well as men should not "point with pride" to their past achievements. All of us like to fight our battles o'er again, and an organization, like an individual, may be excused for reminding mankind of what it has done. But a party, no matter what its history may be, which asks an extension of the popular confidence must appeal to the hopes of the people as well as their memories. Instinctively, and according to early precedent, we look to a platform to learn what its makers purpose to do rather than what they have done.

The past triumphs of Democracy have been very great, but we do not know that much is to be gained by reciting them in the Platform that is to be built at Cincinnati. Much may be gained by stating briefly what the Democracy purposes to do, and saying it in the fewest words possible. Free Trade, Honest Money, Home Rule! These six words tell it all, and will win a victory at the polls that will enable us to stop the robbery of the people by tariff taxation and to check the tendency to centralization and loss of liberty.

GEN. GARFIELD was born in Ohio on November 19, 1831, and was graduated at Williams College, Massachusetts, in 1856. He has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1863. Before that time he was a minister of the Reformed or Christian Church. That occupation did not fit in with service in the Federal army or in the Federal House of Representatives, and the religion of hate took its place.

HENRY B. PAYNE'S Presidential Boom is now on hand. Every mail brings a paper marked by the unerring indication—a blue lead pencil. The BAYARD Boom from Wilmington, Delaware, comes to us daily in the shape of three copies of Every Evening. The FIELD Boom is done up in pamphlets, of which the supply is large.

"FORTY acres and a mule" was the modest aspiration of the colored Southerner at the close of the war. The expansion of this fine idea, as exhibited at Chicago, is one of the most beautiful illustrations of the enlightening effects of freedom.

Lieutenant Governor Holt.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

BERTIE COUNTY, June 7, 1880.

The voters of the First Congressional District have been very much gratified at the favorable mention of the name of Col. Thomas M. Holt, of Alamance, for the office of Lieutenant Governor. The Albemarle country will give him a send off in the convention of one hundred and fifty votes. Why?

1st. He will give more strength to the ticket than any one else whose name has been mentioned in connection with the place.

2d. Like William S. Battle, of Edgecombe, the late Governor Morehead, and Col. Tate, of Burke, he is regarded by the substantial solid men of our State as a truly representative North Carolinian, a man of broad comprehensive mind, active, honest, capable.

3d. He is the exponent of no merely local or partisan schemes, represents no clique, belongs to no man, owns no man, is purely a gentleman in the very best sense of the word, and as such commands the confidence and will receive the support of our people.

4th. In case of a vacancy in the office of Governor our people, having much regard for that high station, would like to see it filled by a man who would command the admiration of good men everywhere, at home and abroad. Now of those named in connection with the office of Lieutenant Governor who would come nearer to this requirement than Thomas Holt?

Lastly. The people of this section are for him because they remember the open and honorable manner in which he has always recognized and advocated the just claims of any of our citizens of the East, down-trodden and Radical-ridden as we are and have been, to official station and political promotion. BERTIE.

THE DISTRICT CONVENTION:—

Pittsboro, June 8.—Please announce that I will not call our Congressional District Convention to order until 1 o'clock, on the 16th, so as to wait for the arrival of the trains on the North Carolina Railroad. Many will come via Durham, where our Judge is to be nominated on the 15th.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

NEW YORK, June 7, 1880.

It has become dangerous for a man to be prominent as a candidate for office, for he at once arrays against himself all other prominent candidates and their friends. They fight each other till, like the Kilkenny cats, they leave nothing but the tails—perhaps this should be written tales, in view of the inevitable party slanders. Instances are so common that it is hardly necessary to cite them. One, in which I feel a deep interest, occurred in our good old town of Fayetteville last week. Maj. Stedman and Judge McKoy have been by far the most prominent and popular candidates for Congress; yet because their friends became excited and indulged in bitter hostility, the one party against the other, so that neither could get the two-thirds necessary in that District, both of them have been thrust aside and a new man, whose name I had not seen mentioned in that connection, and who probably had no aspirations, was put in. Whilst there is no sort of objection, so far as I know, to Mr. Shackelford, and I trust he will be triumphantly elected, it does seem to me deplorable that his nomination should have resulted from such a cause. When I was a politician—as I am not now—I think I never allowed myself to become so embittered against any of my own party—I say nothing as to people of the party to which I was opposed—as to be averse to the support of any regular candidate. It was always enough for me to oppose my political enemies, not my friends. Under such a policy our party got great men like Morehead, and Graham, and Manly, for candidates.

I regret to see that each of the prominent candidates for Governor, Jarvis and Fowle, by all odds the two most popular candidates, is bitterly assailed in the house of his friends. I find in a Democratic paper received to-day, an article copied from another Democratic paper, in which Gov. Jarvis is charged with "aiding and abetting in the grand swindle of Swepson, Littlefield & Co," and this in the very face of the evidence of his strong hostility to that swindle, and his well known fight against it in the Legislature of 1868–'9. This is very sad. I am not disposed to dwell upon it; but do hope that it and such things may not work the ruin of the Democratic party.

Paper bags have become an indispensable article in every retail store, so that it is not surprising to what an extent their manufacture is carried. One manufactory, at Conajoharie, New York, the largest in the United States if not in the world, employs one hundred persons, and makes fifteen millions of bags annually. It requires two and has seven steam presses to print labels paper mills to keep it supplied with paper, on the bags, each of which can print 1,500 bags an hour. The bags go to all parts of the United States, and to England, South America, China and Japan. What attracted my attention to this is, that I saw a Georgia ex-editor a few days ago who says he has invented a great improvement on the machinery by which the bags are made; that he has had one in operation in Georgia, and is here superintending the construction of other machines, to be operated in this city, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco. I hope he may succeed—and he is entirely confident—but he will have to rise early to beat these Yankee inventors and capitalists. An old friend used to say, that to do business in these parts, a man "must not only sleep with one eye open, bnt with one leg out of bed also." Hurrah for the Georgian, however, and for all other Southern men, asleep or awake.

Paper car wheels, with iron hubs and steel tires, are rapidly superseding iron wheels. A factory at Hudson makes from 100 to 125 a week, and cannot supply the demand, so that another is now in process of erection at Chicago that will turn out from 300 to 400 a week. It is dearer at first, but with one tire runs from eight to sixteen times as long as the iron wheel, and may then have a new tire, to repeat the operation. It is also safer and less wearing to the cars.

Mr. Charles E. Mallett, formerly of this city, now an energetic truck farmer near Newbern, is the contractor for supplying some hundreds or thousands of tons of pine straw to be brought north, to have the oil extracted, and the pulp made into paper, as noticed in yesterday's NEWS, from the Kinston Journal. I think the lower section of North Carolina can furnish pine straw enough for a vast deal of oil and paper. It has not heretofore been considered of any value, and the fires in the woods have generally burnt it. H.

Trinity College Commencement.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

TRINITY COLLEGE, June 8, 1880.

The exercises opened on Saturday night. Seven in number, I am informed that the rising "Sophs" acquitted themselves handsomely and that a respectable audience greeted them. The programme was as follows:

1. To-day, by W. A. Pierce, of Halifax county.
2. The Ruins of Time, by H. B. Koonce, of Onslow.
3. Political Conservatism, by A. Anderson, of Wake county.
4. The Lone Star of Texas, by J. D. Mann, of Chatham county.
5. Remedy for Sectional Hostility, by E. F. Wakefield, of Lenoir county.
6. All Things Bright must Fade, by F. M. Shauburger, of Moore county.
7. "Aut Cæsar, aut Nullus," by E. F. Finch, of Davidson.

Sunday, June 6th, the annual sermon before the Theological Society was preached by Rev. Jno. R. Brooks, of Newbern, N. C. I hear the sermon highly complimented. Mr. Brooks is a sound reasoner, and a forcible speaker. There was a large congregation.

On Monday night, the representatives of the Sophomore Class delivered orations, which were creditable to the boys.

The first was—

1. The Art of Departure, by T. L. White, of Trinity.
2. Continued Accidents, by R. A. Whitaker, of Trenton.
3. Paint me as I am, by K. F. Foscue, of Jones county.
4. Ever Onward, by J. M. Ashby, of Surry county.
5. Sophomore Splendor, by J. Hines, of Pender.
6. Labor and the reward, by B. F. Love, of Stantonsburg.
7. First Love, by E. C. Branson, of Raleigh.
8. Now and Then, by D. N. Farnell, of Onslow.

JUNIOR ORATIONS.

1. Beauty is Simple, by B. M. Bodie, of South Carolina.

Mr. Bodie took issue with the customs and habits of the American people. It is said that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." But, said he, its beauty consists of its simplicity. This speech was a hit at the times and was well received.

2. The Path of Duty, by R. H. Broom, of Monroe.

Every path that goes beyond the path of duty leads into darkness and final ruin. The true and trustworthy never stop to ask questions but go and answer to the roll-call duty. Everywhere, although the path of duty may be filled with thorns and difficulties, yet the reward is sure when the stern mandates of duty are obeyed. Act according to duty and principle and all will be well. Mr. Broom is a good speaker.

3. Omnia mutantur et nos mutamur. By B. N. Bodie.

No man can copy anything, and nothing can be counterfeited. No two theories, said he, are alike. How true it is that time is changing, and we are all changing, too. The process by which the world's progress is carried on is constantly changing. We have drifted far from our old ancestry, and are drifting still. When the old is dropped, something new is taken at a great sacrifice. It is better not to be in haste. His speech was loudly applauded.

4. No Flowers, no Fruit. By C. A. Plyler, of South Carolina.

The flower is essential to the fruit, and yet the defect of the one is the defect of the other. Flowers are promises—or prophets of coming things—and they teach the most profound philosophy of human life. He said if six has no bloom to stir the soul or win a kiss, sixteen will have no heart to woo or win, and sixty will be coldest winter over the grave of hope. There is a way-side flower that blooms with little light—whose fruits make the woe of nations. This speech was well delivered, and was greeted with much applause.

5. All men are not poets, by Phil. Holland, of Newbern, N. C.

That all men are not poets is a fact well known. Poetry is a sweet drop in the cup of life—but we need prose and common sense. The world enjoys the music of song, but the ring of the saw and hammer is a joy forever. And, said he, a man will soon find that a cook is needed as well as the angel. Men want their sweethearts to be poetry, but their wives prose. All are not poets, but in every heart there is some little touch of the morning light. Some little mead or winding stream, where fancy flies at will. Some little corner of the soul where the sun always shines. All said he are not poets, but all should have some poetic gleam, some ray of light that never fades. Mr. Holland was several times greeted with applause, and at the close with flowers.

So far everything has passed off well, and things look now that this commencement will not be inferior to the many sucessful ones that are numbered with the dead past. N. M. J.

Alamance County News.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

MEBANEVILLE, June 8, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—Providence blessed us yesterday morning with a good rain, which has produced a smile upon nature all around us. Some say that this rain has almost made their oat crop; and that another will secure it. Wheat harvesting has begun. Some are more than half done. The wheat is yielding very well, indeed, so far as your correspondent has heard. There is another crop which bespeaks great abundance. So if you have any small boys who are plotting a raid upon the small blackberry, send them up.

Mr. T. H. Fowler, the popular bachelor of the tobacco firm of T. H. & J. H. Fowler, was married on the 2d, to Miss Laura Patillo, of Yanceyville, a bright and charming lady.

Mebaneville would make a fine Summer resort for those who live in the low and malarial sections. Our water is pure and good, and health-giving properties abound everywhere.

Maj. Robert Bingham has been invited to deliver an address to the ladies of the Female College of Rome, Ga., at the ensuing commencement, which will be the last of this month.

Major W. B. Lynch, of High Point, stopped over a day last week with friends. He is very much gratified with his success the past year, and has bright prospects for an increased number of students next session. LOCKE.

Buncombe County Matters.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

ASHEVILLE, June 7th, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS: Saturday last was the day the Democrats selected to hold their township meetings and appoint delegates to the county convention on Saturday next. The Jarvis wing is much the strongest, though the Fowle men claim great strength. The delegates appointed to represent this township in the county convention are known to be most of them for Jarvis.

Asheville has been famous during the past week for the number of runaways that have occurred on her streets. Several parties have been thrown from buggies and injured, but none of them badly.

Our colored population were on yesterday considerably excited over a religious ceremony—an immersion. The Methodist congregation of that race being convinced that sprinkling was not the proper mode of baptism concluded that they would like to try another, and the preacher in charge yesterday dipped a large number of them in the French Broad river, and is, I understand, soon to baptize a large number more of them.

The weather in and around Asheville has been for the past month perfectly splendid. While other sections have been complaining of drought and heat, we have been abundantly supplied with cool breezes and rain.

Wheat crops which have been looking well all the winter and spring and about which the people have entertained so many fears that the rust would ruin, are reported to be ripening beautifully. W.

Slaughter of the Innocents.

[Chicago special to Baltimore Sun, 9th.]

On the 34th ballot sixteen of the Wisconsin delegates started the Garfield boom by casting their votes for Garfield. Grant ran up to 312, and his supporters on the floor were becoming quite enthusiastic. Senator Conkling was beaming all over with satisfaction, and mixed actively among the delegates. Twenty-seven Indiana delegates followed the lead of Wisconsin. Four Maryland, one Mississippi and one North Carolina delegate followed suit. Ohio did not respond.

THE DECISIVE BALLOT.

On the thirty sixth ballott Connecticut gave eleven votes to Garfield and but one to Blaine, who had on all prior ballots received three. The great interest was now to see how the Garfield boom would work. It was apparently progressing finely. Illinois put in seven votes for him. Indiana followed with twenty-nine of her thirty. Iowa succeeded with a solid vote for Garfield. Then ensued a scene of wild confusion, and all order was done away with. Cries for Garfield came from all parts of the house.

COLLAPSE OF THE BLAINE BOOM.

Mr. Hale, of Maine, after a hurried consultation with his colleagues, vanished rapidly, followed by Wm. E. Chandler. They had been in constant communication with Mr. Blaine. Through the facilities of telegraphic communication provided between them and Mr. Blaine it was not difficult for him to comprehend the situation, and, with his concurrence, their course was speedily resolved upon. By the time Maine was reached in the call of the States Mr. Hale was back in his seat. He rose at the call of Maine by the clerk, an object of much greater interest than he had ever before been in his whole life.

DISMAY IN THE GRANT CAMP.

Among those who waited with the most intense solicitude were Senator Conkling and the other Grant leaders, for they saw that the anti-Grant and the anti-Blaine element were coalescing upon Garfield, and if the main body of the Blaine forces followed the deserters from their side and joined them, the cause of Grant would be in great jeopardy, and actual defeat stared them in the face.

DEFEAT OF CONKLING.

Mr. Hale was slow in responding, and it seemed an effort for him to get out his words. No wonder, for he was about to abandon a cause which he and the other advocates had persistently and offensively proclaimed as bound to triumph. But he could not shut his eyes to the fact, nor could his chief in Washington, that if they maintained their organization nothing could prevent the nomination of Grant on the next ballot. With a tone of sadness which he could not conceal, he responded 14 votes for James A. Garfield. This was the sign to the Blaine forces that their leaders had abandoned the fight, and invited them to follow into the arms of Garfield.

THE LAST HOPE.

Massachusetts was called. The Grant men had just a hope that when the contest was narrowed down Massachusetts would go for Grant, and their anxiety was now almost painful. Whatever hopes they had were buried in the next minute, when Massachusetts reinforced the rapidly swelling Garfield's column with 22 votes. As between Grant and Blaine, Massachusetts would undoubtedly have voted for Grant, but as between Grant and almost any one else it was against Grant. After the vote of Massachusetts the struggle was practically over, and this was seen by the Grant men.

Senator Conkling, who only a few minutes before had been so happy and so hopeful of ultimate victory, lost all further concern in the animated scene going on before him. He sat in his seat pale, with his eyes cast on the floor, a perceptible quiver on his lips, and addressed no further remarks to any one.

SHERMAN HANDS IN HIS CHECKS.

Secretary Sherman telegraphed to the Ohio delegation to leave him and go over to Garfield at any time when advisable, and also asked that the same request be made of all his other supporters. Ohio, now the boom had grown to such tremendous proportions, thought it time to take this advice, and handed in 43 votes for Garfield, that gentleman of course not casting his own vote. As intimated last night, the tendency of the Sherman strength in the South was toward Grant, but the telegram mentioned above was shown to his Southern delegates, most of whom are government officials, and was looked upon as in the nature of a command. Therefore the Sherman strength was transferred bodily to Garfield.

THE EFFECT ON GARFIELD.

During the entire scene, the balloting and all, Gen. Garfield had endeavored to preserve an appearance of indifference and an impassive countenance, but this it was impossible for him to do, as it would have been impossible for any man under the circumstances. As his vote, commencing with but one, took a sudden bound up by the first change of the Wisconsin delegation on the previous ballot, he had protested against being considered a candidate, but when, in the next ballot, it grew and grew and grew, the awakened hope was shown plainly in his expressions, and when victory came the joy of the occasion shone all over his face.

What Washington Thinks of It.

[Special to Richmond Dispatch, 9th.]

The nomination of Mr. Garfield caused great rejoicing at the White House and in the Treasury Department, as it was regarded as an Administration victory. Mr. Conkling is regarded by the Hayes and Sherman people as the worst whipped man in America, and Don Cameron's disappointment is scarcely less than that of the New York Senator. As for Gen. Logan, he risked all on Grant and lost. The rough-looking Republicans and the negroes, who have hung around the bulletin-boards on the avenue for days waiting for the nomination of the "old man," as they call him, are worse disappointed even than Grant Congressmen.

SEYMOUR AND HENDRICKS.

As soon as the nomination of Garfield was announced, a Northern Democratic Senator remarked to Senator Johnston the Democratic party has now only to nominate Seymour and Hendricks to render victory certain. Others said the ticket ought to be Seymour and Thurman.

WHAT AN OHIO REPUBLICAN SAYS.

A Republican general from Ohio says unless the Democrats have more genius for blunders than they have ever yet shown they have a sure pop this time. The Grant men to-night are desperate, and say that the Convention threw overboard the only man who could have beaten the Democrats.

WHAT FRANK HURD SAYS.

Frank Hurd, the ablest Democrat in the House from Ohio, says that next to Grant Garfield's nomination is the weakest that could have been made. "His record," he says, "is very vulnerable, and he usually runs behind his ticket in Ohio."

WHAT A DEMOCRATIC POLITICIAN SAYS.

I asked a well known Democratic politician to-night in regard to General Garfield, and he replied, "Wooden pavements, Credit-Mobilier, railroad jobs, Surratt trial, electoral commission," &c.

THE DEMOCRATS SATISFIED.

I met a squad of Democrats to-night, including a number of the members of the House. They were in high spirits over the Chicago nomination. They said that the nomination of Arthur for Vice-President was even a worse blunder than the selection of Garfield. Their idea was that we had escaped the nomination of their strong men—Edmunds, Washburne, and Sherman. Garfield's Chinese speech will, they declared, lose him the Pacific States. His opposition to the silver bill will hurt him in the West, and his political record generally will put the Republicans on the defensive from the start.

The opinion is that Sherman will come to the Senate in Gen. Garfield's place, if the latter resigns. Some President-makers say to-night that the nomination of Garfield takes Messrs. Thurman, Payne, and Jewett out of the race.

The negroes to-night still stand round in squads, and cannot realize that Grant has been beaten. They remind me of the colored voters in your city the day after Wells was beaten by Walker.

Mr. Bayard's friends say his chances have improved to-day, and that he is the man to beat Garfield.

The Stickers who got Stuck.

[Herald telegrams on the 8th.]

"Let me state the case," said ex-Senator Mitchell, of Oregon; "the friends of General Grant, Senator Blaine and Secretary Sherman have invested very largely in this contest, and none of them is willing to make the sacrifice necessary to secure a speedy selection of a Presidential candidate. The Blaine men, of whom I am, are willing to fight it out if it takes all Summer."

"Yes," said ex-Postmaster-General Creswell, adding his word to the conversation, "there is not the slightest doubt of it. We propose to do that very thing, we Grant men do."

"I have been looking for a furnished house," said W. D. Bickham, of Dayton, Ohio, an uncompromising Sherman man. "We see very plainly that the war is against Grant and Blaine, and at the death we expect to become rich with the wealth of both. It may take some time, but what is that to a valiant host like us Sherman men?"

From Farce to Fact.

[Herald telegram ten hours ahead.]

The little Garfield "boom" seemed relegated to congenial obscurity. It was farcical from the first, and the manufactured claquery which secured the Ohio parson a regulation welcome from one section of the gallery became so obviously ridiculous that its non-suppression by the man whom it belittled was a constant cause of wonder.

Col. Avera for Auditor.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

EDITOR NEWS:—Among the many worthy aspirants for the nomination of State Auditor there is none more worthy of support than Colonel W. H. Avera. It is but just to him and to the party as well that the fact of his having made the first public speech in opposition to the Republican party ever made in the State should be stated.

In May 1867, when with threats of confiscation of lands, &c.; when the negroes were to have "forty acres and a mule," Colonel Avera made to his neighbors at his store, a public speech of which the lamented and honored B. F. Moore said: It was the most timely and pointed speech that he had seen, and, said he with emphasis, will put Avera in the forefront in formulating an organized opposition to a tide of fanaticism with which the South will have to grapple. The speech was published in the Sentinel in May 1867. At the first State Convention that assembled to re-organize an opposition party to the Radical party, over which the great and good Governor Graham presided, Colonel A., with others, was appointed a canvassing Committee for this county to point out to the people the abominations contained in the Canby Constitution, and appealing to them to vote it down, and nobly did he discharge his duty in this regard without reward or the hope of reward, save the good he hoped would follow to his county and section. From that time until now he has never swerved from the path of duty, giving an enthusiastic and willing support to the Democratic party, the triumph of the great principles of which he thinks are essential to a perpetuation of civil and religious liberty. He is a strong man before the people and his speeches are of that type that carry conviction home to the minds of his hearers. If nominated he would add much to the efficiency of the canvassing corps of the party in the State. His chances for the nomination, I am pleased to hear, are brightening.

An old case of drunk got 12 hours in the guard house from the mayor yesterday.

We regret to learn that Prof. A. F. Redd has severed his connection with the University.

And now the boys go fishing and the game chicken goes blind right in front of the market house.

Whoever finds the record book advertised as lost in our columns can get $5 by bringing it to this office.

E. H. Pogue, of Durham, and Slater, Myers & Co., of Baltimore, took out drummers' licenses yesterday.

Messrs. Pritchard & Brooks, D. J. Ellis, S. E. Creech, Z. Potter, R. S. Uzzle and A. J. Overby have joined the early closing movement.

A young colored man named J. P. Price, a recent graduate of Lincoln University, delivered a lecture in Metropolitan Hall last night.

The office of ranger of this county is vacant; any one desiring to fill it should make application to the July meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

The Circuit Court of the United States met yesterday morning, Judges Brooks and Bond presiding. The equity docket was called over and the Petersburg railroad case disposed of.

The clerks of Raleigh serenaded Mr. Eugene Harrell, Tuesday night. This compliment was tendered Mr. Harrell as a recognition of his efforts to have the stores closed at 8 during the summer.

A letter directed to Christopher Cain care of W. T. Blackwell & Co. Durham, and one to Ruth Vance care of Peter Ruger No. 711 North Lane street St. Louis Mo. are lying in the postoffice here just suffering for stamps.

PERSONALS:—

H. M. Worth, Esq., left for a week's visit to the West yesterday afternoon.

Hon. H. H. Marshall, of Richmond, is quartered at the Yarborough House.

Mr. John H. Boner, of Washington, D. C., is visiting friends in this city and is stopping with Mr. R. W. Smith.

THE DEAF AND DUMB AND BLIND INSTITUTE.—Last night five of the pupils of this institution had a competitive speaking for a gold medal. The contestants, none of whom have during the year received a demerit, were J. C. Allison, Sidney Hoffman, W. D. Mintz, W. G. Reeves and Forney Willis. A committee consisting of Messrs. R. C. Badger, R. T. Gray and Jos. Brown awarded the medal to Mr. Willis, whose subject was "The Duty of a Citizen;" and Maj. Badger presented it to him. The programme was enlivened by delightful music by the pupils of the blind department.

WORTH WORKING FOR.—Extract from a letter written by one young lady to another, Friday after commencement at the University:—"And I can tell you he looked handsome when he went up on the stage to receive it. It is really thrilling to see those medals and prizes given, and Mr. Cameron and some of those old gentlemen do make the boys such inspiring speeches when they present them. I envy a young man who receives his diploma with the consciousness of having done his level best. They seem to have everything before them. Don't you think Tom. Battle, Ernest Haywood and Alex. Phillips must have felt perfectly happy? ——."

STRONG'S LAW SCHOOL.—We notice the names of J. G. Bunch of Chowan, W. E. Daniel of Halifax, T. W. Hawkins of Warren, W. N. Jones, J. F. A. Lamond and Henry F. Slater of Wake, W. J. Peele of Northampton and W. H. Polk of Warren, among the young gentlemen who have obtained license to practice law from the Supreme Court. These gentlemen were members of the excellent law school of Judge Geo. V. Strong. Judge Strong's fitness for a teacher of law is shown by the fact that every young gentleman whom he has ever presented for his license has been passed by the Court. This result must be exceedingly gratifying to the Judge as he takes great interest in his class and devotes much time and attention to them.

"Strong's Law School" has become one of the features of Raleigh, and its success in the future, as in the past, is assured by the learning of its excellent lecturer, and by the unwearied attention and pains which he takes in the instruction of "his boys."

SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Court opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. All the Justices were present.

Appeals from the First Judicial District were called and causes were disposed of as follows:—

J. G. Blount vs. R. C. Windley et als., from Beaufort; continued to next term.

W. M. Tankard vs. S. A. Tankard et als., from Beaufort; set for hearing at the end of the district.

C. V. Luton vs. J. S. Wilcox et als., from Pasquotank; argued by Gilliam & Gatling and C. W. Grandy for the plaintiff, and G. V. Strong for the defendants.

A. J. Duke vs. Maggie Williams et als., from Gates; argued by Gilliam & Gatling for the plaintiff, and Pruden & Shaw for the defendants.

Asa Etheridge et als. vs. S. S. Woodley, administrator, from Tyrrell; argued by Gilliam & Gatling and Pruden & Shaw for the defendant and C. W. Grandy for the plaintiffs.

State vs. George Donaldson, from Beaufort, argued by Attorney-General Kenan for the State; no counsel for the defendant.

State vs. David Berry, from Perquimans; argued by Attorney General Kenan for the State; no counsel for the defendant.

Chloe Powers vs. Kite & Powers, from Currituck; argued by C. W. Grandy for the plaintiff, and Pruden & Shaw for the defendants.

Pending the argument in the last named case, the court adjourned until 10 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, when the consideration of appeals from the First District will be resumed.

The following is a list of appeals remaining to be argued from the First District, in their regular order, viz:

10. Nicholson vs. Cox, et als.
11. Nicholson vs. Cox, et als.
12. State vs. Solomon Jones.
13. State vs. Winney Taylor.
14. Gordon vs. Sanderson et als.
15. Sanderson et als. vs. Dailey, et als.
16. State vs. J. R. Selby et als.
17. Simmons vs. Mann.

LAWYERS.—The Supreme Court on yesterday, after a patient and thorough examination, directed licenses to practice law to issue to the following gentlemen, viz:—

Isaac Thomas Avery, Burke county.
Frederic Probie Barrow, Northampton.
William Robert Booker, Surry.
John Gaskins Bunch, Chowan.

ST. MARY'S CONCERT.—The spacious hall of St. Mary's School was filled last night with about the best looking audience we ever saw assembled in Raleigh. This audience had assembled to hear the grand concert, and they were well repaid for so doing. The splendid programme was splendidly carried out by the same young ladies whose names appeared in THE NEWS report of Tuesday night's performance.

The art exhibition was as fine as any we have ever had the pleasure of inspecting. In addition to the usual display of drawings and paintings, Miss Sallie Shaw and Miss Susie Hunter showed some very pretty specimens of lace work.

One of the best of the crayons is "The Village Blacksmith," by Miss Rebecca Smith, of Scotland Neck. The picture is splendid as is the work, a head of "Iris," by the same. Both are pictures of great merit.

Miss Carrie Sharpe, by a splendid sketch of "The Society of Friends," shows marked ability and her "Maud Muller" is excellently well done.

Miss Mary Lewis exhibits several crayon heads nicely drawn, and a splendid placque in water colors.

Miss Sallie G. Shaw shows an evident idea of art as appears by her meritorious "Scene on the Catawba River."

Miss Carrie Ihrie shows a very pretty landscape and also a fruit piece.

Some panels in oil by Misses Fannie Sharpe and Mary Maxwell attract more than a passing glance, and, for beginners, show skill.

Water-color sketches by Miss Alice Walker and a crayon landscape by Miss Mary Devereux are particularly noticeable.

The crayon head by Miss Katie Sutton is natural and lifelike.

Miss Raven Lewis has several drawings which speak well for her skill.

Miss Rosa Leak exhibits two landscapes in crayon, both showing skill, but "An Alpine View" especially.

Several beautiful examples of decorative art are shown by the paintings in wood or placques, "Lilies and Water Nymphs," by Miss Kate Curtis, is a little gem.

There is an especially pretty panel on wood by Miss Alice Winston.

Several placques by Misses Winston, Pettigrew, Lewis, Walker, Maxwell and Devereux, are among the prettiest objects on exhibition.

A pretty fan is exhibited by Miss Walker. Among the very attractive things are glove and jewelry boxes, card cases, photograph frames, horse-shoe cards, &c.

PROTECT OUR BIRDS.—Our Aldermen should pass an ordinance imposing a fine on every bird killed in the corporate limits with gun, bean shooter, stone or in any other way, except of course patridges in their season, purchased in our market. Mischievous boys are continually hunting with bean shooters and stones the little warblers that cheer us so much and seek rest in the trees in our city. Boys, let the birds alone. Police, make 'em do it. B.

DEATH IN FAYETTEVILLE:—

Fayetteville, June 8.—Mrs. Fanny Mallett, relict of Lalerstedt Mallett, died suddenly on Saturday afternoon of heart disease. 'Tis a remarkable circumstance that three of the elderly female members of the Mallett family should have died during a visit of three several Bishops of the Episcopal church to the Parish. Mrs. Sarah Mallett died during a visitation of Bishop Ives; Miss Sally Mallett during a visit of Bishop Atkinson, and Mrs. Fanny Mallett during the visit of Bishop Lyman. D. G. M.

The annual report of the General Land Office furnishes an interesting exhibit of how large a part of our great belt across the continent is still virtually unoccupied. The original 13 States contain 318,752 square miles, the 25 succeeding States 1,514,-863, the 10 Territories, (including the District of Columbia,) 1,746,627, making 3,580,242 in all, or 2,291,355,-408 acres.

A troublesome kind of Summer visitor has arrived in Long Island and on the New Jersey coast. He is called the Army Worm. His family is numerous, his appetite insatiable, and he eats up the growing crops with surprising rapidity. Large fields of grain and grass are destroyed in a single night. The farmers were heavy losers by the drought, and this fresh affliction tries their resources severely.

A severe rain storm that raged over Southern Minnesota on three consecutive days, culminated on Saturday in a terrific hurricane. Total destruction resulted to every thing in its path. Over a hundred houses were unroofed. Churches, schools, railroad bridges, telegraph wires, trees and all kinds of movable property are scattered in every direction. The hurricane was followed by a heavy rain storm, which augmented the terrible damage sustained by buildings and stock. The rain poured in torrents through unroofed buildings and over unprotected mercantile goods. The estimated damage to the town of Mankato will be about $100,000. The sidewalks in many places were taken up bodily and carried across the streets. Shade trees, of which there are thousands, are torn to pieces. Several houses occupied as dwellings, were blown down over the heads of the families. The destruction of timber in the forest is unprecedented. The growing crops are not badly damaged.

Wake Forest Commencement.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

Yesterday was a gala day at Wake Forest. Large crowds came in on all the trains Tuesday, and in the morning, and in addition to all these the people of the surrounding country turned out in full force. The weather is all that could be desired. Copious rains have refreshed the thirsty earth and the emerald carpet of the beautiful campus looks so inviting as almost to tempt one to forget years and the cares of years in a boyish roll in the fragrant luxuriance.

Prominent among the prominent gentlemen who are present we noticed Rev. Dr. Teasdale, Rev. Dr. Royall, Rev. J. A. Mundy, Rev. Dr. T. E. Skinner, Rev. Jesse E. Carter, Rev. J. B. Boone, Rev. R. H. Marsh, Rev. F. H. Ivey, Rev. Dr. Whitfield, Rev. Dr. John Mitchell, Rev. W. R. Gwaltney, Rev. E Dodson, Rev. F. M. Jordan, Rev. C. T. Bailey, Rev. T. Harrison, Rev. O. F. Edwards, Rev. W. L. Wright, Rev. J. T. Albritton, Rev. J. K. Howell, Rev. Geo. Dowell, Rev. J. W. F. Rogers, Prof. A. F. Redd, Prof. C. D. Grandy, Hon. J. C. Scarborough, Col. W. F. Green, Hon. C. M. Cooke, Col. J. M. Heck, W. H. Pace, Esq., Prof. F. P. Hobgood, J. B. Brewer, Isham Royall, George W. Blount, P. A. Dunn, George R. French.

On Tuesday night the exercises consisted of the address to the society of Alumni, by Capt T. D. Boone. His subject was, "A Quarter of a Century." Capt. Boone came as a student to Wake Forest just twenty five years ago. His address was mainly devoted to reminiscences of college life, to a history of the college and sketch of its development, and to personal reminiscences of men who have gone out from this college to do good for their State and for humanity.

He devoted a large part of his discourse to a sketch of the class of 1856, the first class graduated from here after he came to college, and which bore on its rolls the names of Foote, Huffham, Egerton, Shook and others, whose names since that day have become widely known for learning, science and oratory. Capt. Boone's address was an entire departure from the old ruts in which commencement orators generally fall. That it was a successful departure was evidenced by the deep interest with which it was listened to by the audience which filled Wingate Memorial Hall, used for the first time on this occasion.

On Wednesday morning the hall was filled again, the assembly being called together to listen to the annual address from Dr. D. R Wallace of Texas. Dr. Wallace was graduated from here 30 years ago. After adverting to this fact and devoting a few moments to thoughts and recollections of the past he announced his subject "olla podrida" saying that he had chosen this because it made it impossible that he should stray from his text. Dr. Wallace's oration was full of strong thoughts strongly expressed. If it had a fault it was that it was too full of strong meat to be thoroughly appreciated in a single hearing. Such an address would need to be read carefully and thoroughly digested to be appreciated as it merited. It was an effort more adapted to the closet than the rostrum.

The board of trustees had a session in the morning and evening. Rev. J. S. Purefoy, Mr. P. A. Dunn, Mr. F. M. Purefoy and Professor L. R. Meares were appointed a committee to have 24 new dormitories arranged.

The question of establishing two new professorships was discussed but no decision was reached. The board will meet this morning for further discussion of the subject and have requested the Faculty to meet and consult with them thereanent.

The exercises last night were opened with the reading of the 2nd chapter of 2d Timothy by Rev. N. B. Cobb, followed by prayer, led by Rev. Mr. Mundy, of Warrenton.

Dr. Pritchard then introduced Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Brooklyn, who was to preach the baccalaureate sermon. Dr. Hoyt's text was: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." To say that he handled it well is to say that he only sustained his already high reputation, but Dr. Hoyt did more, he surpassed it.

The morning exercises of to-day are the addresses of the graduating class and the announcement of distinctions, the conferring of degrees and the presentation of medals. In the afternoon the two societies will meet and at night we all anticipate great pleasure at the reception complimentary to the graduating class. We have already seen enough pretty girls to turn any young man's head, and the boys here say they are not "a marker" to what is coming.

Kessnich's band from Richmond furnishes the music, and we never heard better. In the afternoon among the selections played was the "Trumpeter's Farewell," with echo effect. It was about the most beautiful thing we ever heard, and one who knows music scientifically told us it was full of meaning.

Every one who can should attend the exercises to-day and we promise they will be well paid for so doing.

WAIFS:—

Country board—the plank sidewalk from the station.

A day or two ago as a colored bootblack was passing a down-town barroom and fruit store he picked up a stump of a cigar from the gutter and went into the store and asked for a match. He was met with the reply, "We don't keep matches to give away." The boy started out but stopped at the door, turned back and asked the proprietor, "Do you sell 'em?" He purchased a box, paid his two cents, and lit his stump, after which he closed the box and asked the proprietor to put it on the shelf, and "next time a gem'an asks you for a match just give 'im one out of my box."

How an Empress is Buried.

[By Cable to the New York Herald, 8th.]

PARIS, June 7, 1880.—Our St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs the following this afternoon:

"The ceremony of the translation of the remains of the Empress from the Winter Palace to the fortress took place to-day according to the programme forwarded to you yesterday. The rain, which fell in torrents all the morning, ceased at twelve o'clock, just as the cortege began to move. All the bells of the city gave out mournful peals, and the cannon of the fortress and of two war vessels moored along the quays kept up a continual fire while the funeral car pursued its majestic course. The Emperor, wearing a gray military cloak and apparently very much affected, followed on horseback, attended by all the Russian and foreign princes. At one o'clock, after crossing the Neva, the cortege entered the fortress. The cannon ceased and the religious service commenced. On arriving at the fortress all those who were at the head of the cortege, as far back as the funeral car, withdrew. Two heralds guarded the door of the Cathedral. The Ministers, Senators and dignitaries entered and took their places in the church, where the diplomatic corps were already assembled with their wives and such of the members of the court as had not taken part in the procession.

SERVICES IN THE CATHEDRAL.

"The Archbishop commenced chanting the mass. When the funeral car drew up at the entrance of the church four chamberlains removed the mortuary cloth and bore it into the Cathedral. Then the Emperor, the Grand Dukes, the Prince Imperial of Germany, the Archduke William of Austria, the Duke of Hesse and the Duke of Mecklenburg raised the coffin, carried it into the church and placed it on the catafalque. They were preceded by the Metropolitan, who is the head of all the clergy, and were aided in carrying the coffin by six grenadiers of the palace, six sub-officers of the cuirassiers of the regiment of the Empress and four Cossacks. The Queen of Greece, the Cesarewna, the Duchess of Edinburgh, and all the other grand duchesses, descended from their carriages and entered the Cathedral. Their long mourning trains were borne each by four pages. They took seats in the front. Then four chamberlains removed the lid of the coffin and exposed to view the body, which was covered with the imperial mantle. On the upper estrade of the catafalque six captains of the Guard took their places, and on the six steps twelve pages. Cadets, sub-officers and simple soldiers surrounded the catafalque. All this took place to the sound of religious music. Then the Metropolitan, with the whole of the higher clergy sang the office for the dead. This lasted about an hour, after which the Emperor, the princes and the princesses withdrew. Every one, of course, followed them, and there remained round the catafalque only the service of the Guard, composed of one dame d'honneur, eight ladies, with twelve chamberlains, doing duty alternately. Four ladies occupied the places at the four corners of the catafalque, standing and motionless.

THE TOMB OF THE CZARS.

The vault where the body is to be lowered on Wednesday is already prepared. It was constructed by a French architect named Pommier, and is two yards wide by three long. During the ceremony it was covered by boards, over which a carpet was spread. A coffin in copper lies at the bottom. This will receive the shell in which the body now reposes, and will then be closed. There will be two locks to it, the key of one of which will be delivered to the Minister of the Imperial Household and the key of the second to the head of the clergy of the cathedral. The superb nave of the building was dazzling with light. This cathedral is of very small dimensions. Prayers will be said there twice a day. From seven to eleven o'clock in the morning the military will be admitted to see the body, from eleven to one the schools, and from one to three the imperial family. In order that prayers may be said from three to five o'clock persons provided with cards will be admitted from five to nine o'clock in the evening, and from eleven to five o'clock in the morning the general public will be admitted. The body will be lowered into the vault on Wednesday.

"At eleven o'clock this morning the Grand Duke Nicholas arrived from Moscow; also the Prince Imperial of Germany and several other German princes. The latter were received at the Warsaw station by the Cesarevitch, the Grand Dukes, and dignitaries of the court and the whole of the members of the German Embassy, all in deep mourning. The English military attache wears crape even over the gold bands of his pantaloons. Prince Orloff arrived from Paris in the same train with the German princes. The governors of all the Russian provinces are en route to the funeral. The Duke of Edinburgh arrived this evening. The Comte de Flanders, of Belgium, and the Prince of Bulgaria, and General Chanzy, the French Ambassador, are also expected."

A Runaway Husband.

One day last week a man residing in East Toledo, O., skipped from his family and brought up in Detroit. His wife got a clue to his whereabouts and came on after him, and yesterday she had an interview with him at the Central Station, where he had been run in for the purpose. She had no tears to shed. On the contrary, her hair had a fighting bang, and as soon as she could get her breath she began:

"So, you miserable little apology for a human being, you skipped out, did you?

No reply.

"After I had washed and scrubbed and sewed for nearly twenty years to support you you got tired of your family, did you? Our style of living wasn't tony enough to suit you, and you wanted a diamond pin and a cane!"

"Say, Lucy, I'm sorry," he mumbled.

"Well, I ain't!" she snapped. "No, sir! On the contrary I'm glad of it? You've chewed tobacco and drank whisky and whittled shingles and loafed on the corners at my expense just as long as you ever will!"

"What do you want of me, then?"

"Want of you? Why, I want to clear my character! All our neighbors say that you ran away from me, and some pity me and some laugh. You run away from me! Why, you low-down corner loafer, you couldn't run away from anything but a spade or an axe. I followed you to get this matter straight. I've got to live there, and I'm not going to be either pitied or laughed at!"

"What do you want?" he asked.

"Here's what I want!" she said, as she seized his collar and twisted him around. "Now you take that—and—that—and—that—and I'll have these officers sign a paper that I found you and kicked you out to take care of yourself! Now you git! Don't ever write me, don't ever dare to come back to me! Even if I hear that you ever tell anybody that you were married to me I'll buy a shot-gun and hunt for you!"

The husband sneaked out of doors and down the street, and the wife, having the "docs" in her pocket, walked the other way, muttering to herself:

"Skipped out! Run away from his family! Well, his old shirts will make a mop worth twice the value of his whole body! Now, I want to see some one grin in the face of this testimonial that I raised him right off his heels!"

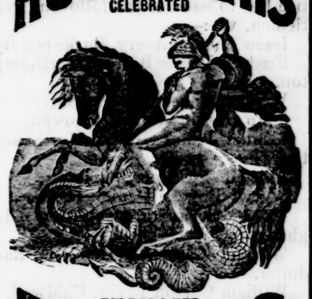
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED



STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague.

The true antidote to the effects of miasma is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This medicine is one of the most popular remedies of an age of successful proprietary specifics, and is in immense demand wherever on this continent fever and ague exists. A wine-glass full three times a day is the best possible preparative for encountering a malarious atmosphere, regulating the liver and invigorating the stomach.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

TUTT'S PILLS

SYMPTOMS OF A TORPID LIVER.

Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Pain in the Head, with a dull sensation in the back part, Pain under the shoulder-blade, Fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, Weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Yellow Skin, Headache generally over the right eye, Restlessness with fitful dreams, highly colored Urine.

IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASES WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED.

TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, one dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. If the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the frequency of the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

Dr. I. Guy Lewis, Fulton, Ark., says: "After a practice of 25 years, I pronounce TUTT'S PILLS the best anti-bilious medicine ever made."

Rev. F. R. Osgood, New York, says: "I have had Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had any medicine to do me so much good as TUTT'S PILLS. They are as good as represented."

Office 35 Murray Street, New York.
